
Privacy Policy

Personal Information Protection Policy

Centre for Suicide Prevention (CSP) is committed to safeguarding the personal information entrusted to us by our stakeholders. We manage your personal information in accordance with Alberta's Personal Information Protection Act (PIPA). This policy outlines the principles and practices we follow in protecting your personal information.

This policy applies to Centre for Suicide Prevention and to any person providing services on our behalf. A copy of this policy is provided to any stakeholder upon request.

What is personal information?

Personal information means information about an identifiable individual. This includes but is not limited to an individual's name, home address and phone number, age, gender, an identifying number, financial information, or educational history.

What personal information do we collect?

We collect only the personal information that we need for the purposes of providing services to our clients, including personal information needed to:

- Deliver requested products and services
- Enrol a client in a workshop or webinar
- Send out information via email
- Process association memberships

We normally collect client personal information directly from our clients. We may collect your information from other persons with your consent or as authorized by law.

We inform our clients, before or at the time of collecting personal information, of the purposes for which we are collecting the information. The only time we do not provide this notification is when a client volunteers information for an obvious purpose (e.g. producing a credit card to pay a workshop registration fee when the information will be used only to process the payment).

Consent

CSP asks for consent to collect, use, or disclose client personal information, except in specific circumstances where collection, use or disclosure without consent is authorized or required by law. We may assume your consent in cases where you volunteer information for an obvious purpose.

We assume your consent to continue to use and, where applicable, disclose personal information that we have already collected, for the purpose for which the information was collected.

We ask for your express consent for some purposes and may not be able to provide certain services if you are unwilling to provide consent to the collection, use or disclosure of certain personal information. Where express consent is needed, we will normally ask a client to provide their consent orally (in person, by telephone), or in writing (by signing or agreeing via email to a consent form).

A client may withdraw consent to the use and disclosure of personal information at any time unless the personal information is necessary for us to fulfil our legal obligations. We will respect your decision, but we may not be able to provide you with certain products and services if we do not have the necessary personal information.

How do we use and disclose personal information?

We use and disclose client personal information only for the purpose for which the information was collected, except as authorized by law. For example, we may use client contact information to deliver services.

If we wish to use or disclose your personal information for any new business purpose, we will ask for your consent. We may not seek consent if the law allows this (e.g. the law allows organizations to use personal information without consent for the purpose of collecting a debt).

What is personal employee information?

Personal employee information is personal information about an employee or volunteer which is collected, used, or disclosed solely for the purposes of establishing, managing, or terminating an employment relationship or a volunteer work relationship. Personal employee information may, in some circumstances, include a Social Insurance Number or a performance review.

We can collect, use, and disclose personal employee information without consent only for the purposes of establishing, managing, or ending the employment or volunteer relationship. We will provide current employees and volunteers with prior notice about what information we collect, use, or disclose and our purpose for doing so.

What personal employee information do we collect, use, and disclose?

We collect, use, and disclose personal employee information to meet the following purposes:

- Determining eligibility for employment or volunteer work, including verifying qualifications and references
- Establishing training and development requirements
- Assessing performance and managing performance issues if they arise
- Administering pay and benefits (paid employees only)
- Processing employee work-related claims (e.g. benefits, workers' compensation, insurance claims)
- Complying with requirements of funding bodies
- Complying with applicable laws (e.g. Canada Income Tax Act, Alberta Employment Standards Code)

We only collect, use, and disclose the amount and type of personal employee information that is reasonable to meet the above purposes. The following is a list of personal employee information that we may collect, use, and disclose to meet those purposes:

- Contact information such as your name, home address, telephone number

- Employment or volunteer information such as your resume (including educational background, work history and reference), reference information and interview notes, letters of offer and acceptance of employment, policy acknowledgement forms, background verification information, workplace performance evaluations, emergency contacts, etc.
- Benefit information such as forms relating to applications or changes to health and insurance benefits including medical and dental care, life insurance, short- and long-term disability, etc. (paid employees only)
- Financial information, such as pay cheque deposit information and tax-related information, including Social Insurance Numbers (paid employees only)
- Other personal information required for the purposes of our employment or volunteer relationship

We will inform our employees and volunteers of any new purpose for which we collect, use, or disclose personal information, or we will obtain your consent, before or at the time the information is collected.

What information do we provide for employment/volunteer references?

In some cases, after your employment or volunteer relationship with us ends, we will be contacted by other organizations and asked to provide a reference for you. It is our policy not to disclose personal information about our employees and volunteers to other organizations who request references without consent. The personal information we normally provide in a reference includes:

- Confirmation that an individual was an employee or volunteer, including the position, and date range of the employment or volunteering
- General information about an individual's job duties and information about the employee or volunteer's ability to perform job duties and success in the employment or volunteer relationship

How do we safeguard personal information?

We make every reasonable effort to ensure that personal information is accurate and complete. We rely on individuals to notify us if there is a change to their personal information that may affect their relationship with our organization. If you are aware of an error in our information about you, please let us know and we will correct it on request wherever possible. In some cases, we may ask for a written request for correction.

We protect personal information in a manner appropriate for the sensitivity of the information. We make every reasonable effort to prevent any loss, misuse, disclosure, or modification of personal information, as well as any unauthorized access to personal information.

We use appropriate security measures when destroying personal information, including shredding paper records, and permanently deleting electronic records.

We retain personal information only as long as is reasonable to fulfil the purposes for which the information was collected or for legal or business purposes.

Access to records containing personal information

Individuals have a right to access their own personal information in a record that is in the custody or under the control of the Centre for Suicide Prevention, subject to some exceptions. For example, organizations are required under the Personal Information Protection Act to refuse to provide access to information that would reveal personal information about another individual.

If we refuse a request in whole or in part, we will provide the reasons for the refusal. In some cases where exceptions to access apply, we may withhold that information and provide you with the remainder of the record.

You may make a request for access to your personal information by writing to the Executive Director of the Centre for Suicide Prevention. You must provide sufficient information in your request to allow us to identify the information you are seeking.

You may also request information about our use of your personal information and any disclosure of that information to persons outside our organization. In addition, you may request a correction of an error or omission in your personal information.

We will respond to your request within 45 calendar days, unless an extension is granted. We may charge a reasonable fee to provide information, but not to make a correction. We do not charge fees when the request is for personal employee information. We will advise you of any fees that may apply before beginning to process your request.

Questions and complaints

If you have a question or concern about any collection, use, or disclosure of personal information by the Centre for Suicide Prevention, or about a request for access to your own personal information, please contact the Executive Director, Centre for Suicide Prevention.

If you are not satisfied with the response you receive, you should contact the Information and Privacy Commission of Alberta:

Office of the Information and Privacy Commissioner of Alberta

Suite 2460, 801 – 6 Avenue SW

Calgary, AB T2P 3W2

Phone: 403-297-2728

Toll free: 1-888-878-4044

Email: generalinfo@oipc.ab.ca

Website: www.oipc.ab.ca